

Homework 4 Explanation.

For this assignment, I used the text files provided so it would be structured and have entries that did look realistic. I felt that it was easier to use the text files instead of having to write out multiple names with addresses, cities and states, etc. At first I was having trouble with the data only printing out random letters together until I used the txt files. I used rand functions to generate specific data for the data.sql file, then it would use the datasql content to write data for the data.sql file. One challenge was putting the data in order for the data.sql file, at first it was not wanting to be in order so I had to switch the order around for them to print properly. Overall, with the way the project was done I would not change a thing about the process.
